The NW&DFHG 2011-2012 Member of the Year.

It makes me feel good to see our Group recognise the efforts of some of its members and volunteers. This year we also had the sad task of thanking a couple of our friends for all they had contributed to the NW&DFHG as they resigned from committee and VIP positions. On a happy note Wendy Eldridge is this year's winner of the Member of the Year Award. Wendy joined our little group in 2008 and has been a living resource ever since. Wendy has been involved with our Research room as manager, Research Room duty, drawing up the Research Room Duty Roster, training duty volunteers and recently helping with indexing for the Casey Cardinia collection. Wendy has hosted 2 Library Volunteer mornings where almost all of the Research Room volunteers have met for a coffee and discussed issues regarding the Research Room and duty.

Above: Wendy Goodwin presenting Wendy Eldridge with her award.

These mornings have been a great forum for those who do duty to catch up. Again this year Wendy and Jenny Hayes have arranged another family history expo. With help from a small group, there has been a huge amount of effort put into advertising, sponsorship and layout.

Congratulations Wendy on your award.

Di Christensen and Shirley

Peterson have resigned from VIP positions that each have held for quite a number of years. Unfortunately Wendy Brock resigned as Membership Secretary and Wendy Goodwin resigned as President. A big Thank You to all of you for your efforts. We still have a vacancy for the Victorian Association of Family History Organisations Representative and an Away Days coordinator.

If you would like to know more about these positions please contact a committee member.

President's Report

I am very excited to be back at the helm again. I hope there's not too many of you groaning right now!

Two of the three Wendies have retired from the Committee and we do have to thank them both for everything they have done for the Group, which is a lot. We welcome Anne Blair and Kerry Maxwell to the ranks and on a personal note, I say thank you to all the returning committee members for coming back at least one more time!

We've got a busy time ahead with the Expo, Seniors Week, Cranbourne Cemetery Tour and a couple of Away Days sprinkled into the mix. I am sure it will all be great fun and I am looking forward to it all immensely, I hope that you are too.

While I might be at the helm, it's the crew (your committee) who chart the course and the passengers (you, the members) along with the crew who decide where we're going. I encourage every member to participate in some way whether it be 'doing duty', helping at the Expo, serving on the committee, sizzling sausages or any of the countless other ways in which you could become more involved. I can almost guarantee that you will get back much more than your initial investment of time.

I also encourage members to share any problems or thoughts with me, believe it or not, sometimes I can listen too! But, I can't help or fix anything if I'm not aware of a need or problem.

Lastly, Kudos to the two volunteers recently doing duty who got into trouble from an irate member of the public for the inaccuracies in an article not written by us, and in fact not published by us either. These ladies lost neither their cool nor their heads and systematically worked through the problem and the person concerned left feeling happy with problem sorted! Doing duty is like a box of chocolates – you never know what you're going to get, sweet ones, hard ones, soft ones and ones with nuts.

Seniors Week Events

The Group will once again be offering a program to celebrate Seniors Week in October.

There will be two Beginners Workshops held in the Research Room:

Monday, October 8 2012 10.00am to 12.00 noon

and

Thursday, October 11 2012 3.00pm to 5.00pm

Cost of each event: $10.00

These will be two stand alone workshops, so attendance will only be required for one session.

There will also be a free assisted research session for Seniors, also in the Research Room, on Wednesday October 10 between 11.00am and 3.00pm.

As numbers are limited bookings will be required for all of these events.

Enquiries and bookings should be directed to Wendy Brock on 9705 1226.

If you know of anyone who is hesitant about starting their search, or doesn't know where to start, send them in our direction. We'd love to have them join us.

Cranbourne Cemetery Tour

History Week is running from Sunday 21 – Sunday 28 October this year and we're doing our bit with a tour of Cranbourne Cemetery.

We're hoping to emulate last year's very successful tour of Pakenham Cemetery, and we've got our fingers crossed for better weather. We've ordered a little more sunshine but we'll have to wait and see how that goes.

Come and hear just a few of the 3,000 or so stories behind the headstones with us as we explore Cranbourne's early history and the accomplishments and tragedies of some of the district's early settlers.

Our 90 minute tour will cost $5 per person paid on the day – however bookings are essential. We will be serving tea and coffee at the conclusion of the tour. Please contact Lynne on 8787 5558 or president@nwfhg.org.au

Where: Cranbourne Cemetery, Sladen Street, (Cranbourne-Frankston Road) Cranbourne

When: Sunday 28th October at 11 am

Research Room News

Hello fellow Genies,

As someone famous said "there's no place like home" back from our trip and down to earth with a thud. The sinking feeling you get when you realise you have deleted 500 photos and no back up. I deleted my photos of the trip to Darwin this year for the 70th anniversary of the bombing in 1942. After much searching and heartache I found I had not given a copy to my sister, I had not put them on my computer at home, I had not put them on my family usb back up. The only copy I had was the SD card and I cleaned it off before my trip. Important lesson learned too late: back up, backup, back up. Felt only a little better when crying on a girlfriend's shoulder and she told me how her husband while backing up her computer managed to delete everything; all photos, files, everything. Then I heard how my nephew recorded over the top of his wedding and it was the only copy in the family.

Still out of the bad comes the good. I have spent hours sorting my photo files and backing them up twice, with one set staying at home, the second has gone to a family member for safe keeping. I made copies of all my photos from my nephew's wedding and gave them to his wife and I made copies of all the photos I had of my girlfriend's family and gave them to her. My sister has given me a copy of her photos of our trip to Darwin and I have already backed up every photo and file from my trip in May to Normandy and Britain, a hard lesson to learn.

I was very happy to be nominated and awarded the continuing role as the librarian for the Group at this years Annual General Meeting. To celebrate I went to Yarragon the next day to a book sale. I didn't find any treasure to add to the Groups resources but I did get two books to help with my family research. I can recommended the website "Founders and Survivors" that our guest speaker Professor Janet McCalman gave such an interesting talk about. I found one of my missing family twigs was transported to Tasmania. The next step is to discover where he went when his time was up, very exciting as we didn't think we had any connections to Tasmania or convicts in the family.

At the moment I'm working on researching available resources for my allocated Scottish counties to discuss at the next purchasing meeting and to make sure that I back up everything every time I sign on to a computer.

Happy Reading

The Early Settlers of the Casey Cardinia District (published 2010 by the Narre Warren & District Family History Group Inc.) is a 274 page book complete with index to people, properties and ships; plus a bibliography. There are over 300 entries containing birth, death and marriage information for individuals and families, many of which were submitted by descendants of those people and include photographs not published elsewhere. In many cases detailed biographies have been written by descendants or compiled by the family history group, giving an insight into the early days of many Casey Cardinia families and individuals.

Whroo Headstone Recovered

In 2008, the headstone of Henry Motton was wrenched from its grave enclosure in the Whroo Cemetery where it had stood since 1870.

Whroo Cemetery Trust member Nicola Thompson had reported the theft to police. The desecration and theft was keenly felt by the current members of the Motton family.

Fast forward to 2011 where the headstone is noticed on eBay. After some investigation by officers from Echuca and Rushworth, police were able to charge two Echuca based men with headstone theft and desecration of the grave. The recovered headstone was used as evidence in the criminal prosecution after which it would then be returned.

Rex Motton recently visited the Whroo Cemetery to see the headstone reinstated. He said it looks exactly as it did originally, "except a couple of inches shorter".

Should you wish to make a trip to the Whroo Cemetery, and search out the headstone of Henry Motton, take in the sites of the Balaclava mine, Rushworth State Park and the Rushworth and District Historical & Preservation Society's Museum which would make a really interesting excursion should you feel inclined.

President's Report 2011-2012

The year started well with news from AFFHO that Spreading Branches had won second prize in Category A of the Nick Vine Hall Award for group's newsletters. We received $100 and a certificate. Our Open Day 2011 on 4 August proved to be an interesting and enjoyable day, resulting in 8 visitors and 2 new memberships.

Another interesting and enjoyable day was the Antiques Appraisal Day on 24 September with Adam Truscott and Vanessa Crew from The Collector in Murrumbidgee. The day was a great success largely due to Jenny Hayes' organisational skills and the wonderful job the volunteers did on the day. A profit of $459 was made. Fundraising efforts continued with our Sausage Sizzle in February and a bit more excitement than we bargained for when the fire alarm went off and the entire store was evacuated. We capitalised on the situation and sold sausages to the people filing past until the fire safety person from Bunnings moved us along too. Still, a profit of $1,424.90 was made on the day.

Wendy Brock and I have attended Casey Cardinia Local History Reference Group meetings at various locations including Emerald Museum and Edrington in Berwick where Lynne Bradley was given the opportunity to introduce the Casey Cardinia Remembers project to those present.

Lynne Bradley and I have attended South Eastern Historical Association meetings at the Dromana Historical Society and Nepean Historical Society. The meeting held in the Narre Warren Library Meeting Room, we co-hosted with the Library Corporation. Thanks go to the very generous members who volunteered to make something for morning and afternoon tea allowing us to keep the $50 given to hosting societies for more resources!

We have had some interesting speakers over the last 12 months: Jenny Davies spoke about Flinders Street Station; Jenny Hayes gave an interesting talk about her Timmins Family Reunion held in 1991; Celestina Sagazio gave a memorable talk about headstones and cemeteries; Joan Vanderhorn and the history of Clyde; and Ruth Crofts from the Casey Cardinia Branch of the National Trust with her talk on their publication Pages from the Past.

In house activities have included demonstrations of favourite family history websites, members' military ancestors and of course, the Christmas Quiz organised by Jenny Hayes for the December meeting where we all had a good time, lots of laughs and a lovely supper. Rex McFarlane chaired another successful question and answer night; Paul and Lynne showed us features of our own website, the Casey Cardinia Remembers website and our new bookmarks at Delicious.com.

As a Group we participated in the Casey Cardinia Local History Reference Group Expo in October with a display of Casey Cardinia information. We also held a very successful tour of the Pakenham Cemetery last October which raised $315. In March Lynne B, Eileen, Jane and I attended the inaugural National Trust and City of Casey Heritage Day at the Old Cheese Factory at Berwick.

The purchasing committee has met many times over the past year at Lynne Bradley's home and as a result, many new resources have been added to the Research Room's holdings with many more yet to come.

We've been out and about too, in November we went to the Melbourne, Fawkner and Coburg cemeteries. On another day we went to the Drouin, Warragul, Yarragon, Trafalgar, Moe, Hazelwood and Traralgon cemeteries. Members met at the Fountain Gate Hotel on 3 December to enjoy our Christmas Around the World Dinner. In March a group of members hopped on the bus trip to the Bendigo Family and Local History Expo at Kangaroo Flat and in April we went to the PROV. Jenny Hayes organises a bus from the Council and she does a great job - thank you Jenny.

Throughout the year we have recognised our volunteers; Anne Blair was presented with the 'Shirley Award' at our May General Meeting because she would not be attending the Annual Volunteers Morning Tea which was held on 16 May at the Light Horse and Field Artillery Museum at Nar Nar Goon. The morning proved to be a long one starting with morning tea and a three hour tour of the Museum which would probably have been fine if it had not been so cold.

At our Committee meeting on the 6 June a decision was made to change our Wednesday and Saturday meetings to coincide with daylight saving and to change the Wednesday night starting time to 7.30 pm. This means that each year our Wednesday night meetings will start in October and finish in April and the Saturday afternoon meetings will start in May and finish in September. This change will begin with our October meetings which will now be on Wednesday, 10 October with a 7.30 pm start time.

Sadly, at the June General Meeting we farewelled a much loved long time member, Diana Wheeler. Di Christensen made the farewell presentation to Diana on the Group's behalf. I think everyone will remember Diana's interesting talks on her Cornish research and especially how we all enjoyed the fun activities she arranged for our Christmas Meetings anything from pantomimes to trivia quizzes that were designed to test our memories and our knowledge of history. Diana will be greatly missed.

WENDY GOODWIN

PRESIDENT

The Closet Awards

This December the Group will again be holding The Closet Awards with me as host. We will award the member, who has an ancestor, whose life achievements were a little different to most or similar as the case maybe.

Strange as this may sound to some of you, if you had a grandparent who died the strangest death, you might be awarded a prize. It might be a great great grandparent, it might be an aunt or uncle but you need to be able to support your claim!

So preparation is needed by you, the reader, before the December meeting.

You need to check your research to see if you have an ancestor who might match one or more of the following criteria. Proof of that claim would then need to be brought to the meeting and hopefully a great story to go with the claim to the award.

Our awards will be:

The person who has the youngest descendant as at 25 December 2012.

The person who travelled the furthest to get to Australia.

The person who has the most number of grandchildren not children as at 25 December 2012.

The person who has the longest name.

The person who has the most number of convicts.

The person whose ancestor lived the longest.

The person whose relative married more than once.

The person with the oldest hand written letter.

The person whose ancestor died the most tragic death.
